

A RECOMMENDATION ABOUT PARIS

I went to Paris several years ago, if I have to make a recommendation about sightseeing in this wonderful city, I would start telling you to visit the "Champs Elysées", which is the biggest avenue in Paris. It is really impressive! According to a commonly used description it is the most beautiful avenue in the world. Moreover, it is lined with cinemas, cafes, restaurants and luxury specialty shops.

Just next to the "Champs-Elysées" is located The Eiffel tower, which is one of the world's most recognizable landmarks and a symbol of Paris and France. The most striking thing about it is its enormous structure. The Eiffel tower is affectionately nicknamed "the Iron lady". If you intend to go up to the top, you can get there in two different ways. Using the big capacity lifts or the handy stairs whose distance between steps is really short, letting us go up without any difficulty.

The Eiffel tower rises 324 meters above the lovely city of light. It is made up by three levels, and each one offers visitors breathtaking views. The best time to go and enjoy these awe-inspiring panorama is in the evening or at night, when all the lights in Paris wake up and you can observe how they are reflected on the Seine river's water. At this time the beautiful city of light is in its crowning point!. Moreover, from there, it is possible to admire the beauty of Notre Dame cathedral, the Louvre museum and its Pyramid and The Arch of the Triumph.

On the other hand, inside the tower we can delight ourselves tasting the magnificent menu in The Jules Verne restaurant, watching a historical film in the Cineiffel or having a drink in the Champagne bar at the top of it.

The building itself is obviously admired all over the world and it has provided an impressive backdrop to several films. Besides, at night the monument projects an amazing lit up structure against the backdrop of a starry night. Overall, I'd say The Eiffel tower has become the "soul" of the city of love, and for this reason it is an absolute must-see if you visit Paris. Just don't forget to charge the battery of your mobile phone in order to take unforgettable photos!.
